

Organized Information: Key to Success

Information is the key to success in today's business. Success of the Business Development efforts largely depends on being at the right place; at the right time and meeting the right people. Corporate use various databases to obtain the information about the customers, suppliers and competition. In the new millennium, online databases have become an indispensable tool in sales, marketing and procurement functions.

Database Collation: Tasking Exercise

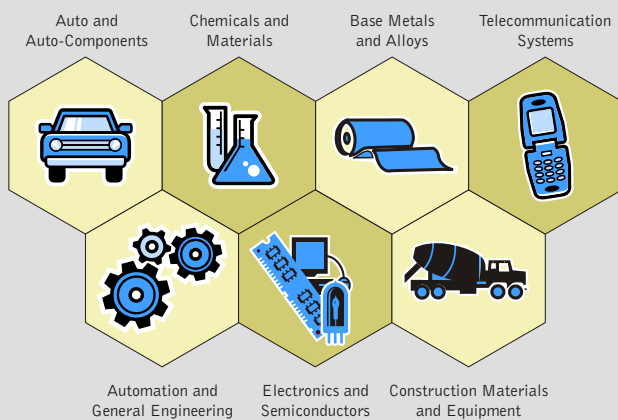

Updating company information in the database is a monumental exercise of information gathering. This involves advanced web search, telephonic calls, follow up and updating as per the template. The sheer volume of work involved requires huge amount of resources viz. manpower and infrastructure, and above all, the race against time, to finish the exercise. In light of these difficulties, database service providers are exploring ways to compile the information simultaneously, trying harder to ensure quality of the information.

Outsourcing Solutions

Database service providers have been striving hard to serve the market requirement and to forge ahead of competition. Knowledge Process Outsourcing (KPO) is the much awaited solution for database service providers for data collation exercise. Through KPO, database service providers can outsource their data collection processes like web search, calls to companies, data entry and preparation of corporate profiles. This would help the service providers to deploy their resources in a more effective manner and cater to the market on time. The database companies can focus more on core activities like business development, quality control, value-added services and Client servicing.
